

Precision Oncology Symposium: Discovery to Implementation

Saturday, April 16, 8:30am-3:00pm

Hyatt Regency, Atlanta GA

cancer-research-network@kp.org

Precision Oncology: Discovery to Implementation

Saturday, April 16, 8:30 am to 3:00 pm

Hyatt Regency Atlanta

The Cancer Research Network is co-hosting a symposium on precision medicine and cancer at the Health Care Systems Research Network Annual Conference in Atlanta, Georgia. There is a special one-day registration option for people who will not be attending the full conference.

Speakers include:

- Deborah Bruner, Robert W. Woodruff Professor of Nursing, Emory University and Winship Cancer Center
- Karen Emmons, Vice President, Research, Kaiser Permanente
- Katrina Goddard, Senior Investigator, Kaiser Permanente Center for Health Research
- Muin Khoury, Director, Office of Public Health Genomics, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention
- Karen Kippen, Executive Director, Patient-Centered Outcomes Research, Department of Public Health Sciences, Henry Ford Health System
- Marylyn Ritchie, Director, Biomedical and Translational Informatics, Geisinger Health System
- Maren Scheuner, Chief, Medical Genetics, VA Greater Los Angeles Healthcare System
- Joe Selby, Executive Director, Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Institute
- and others...

This symposium will focus on precision oncology and its relevance to health care systems, patients and populations, and clinical care. How can research in health care systems contribute to knowledge and advances in precision oncology, and how can precision oncology research influence changes in practice that improve cancer care and outcomes? Join us as we explore the current landscape of precision oncology and the role of health care systems in advancing cancer research in this emerging field.

If you plan to attend the whole HCSRN conference, come meet fellow cancer researchers at the CRN's Conversation Cafe on Thursday, April 14, from 4:30 to 6:00 pm. We look forward to seeing you in Atlanta!