

Cancer Prevention and Control Research Program Virtual Lecture Series April 19, 2022| 4:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. EST

Speakers:

Jasmine Miller-Kleinhenz, PhD
FIRST Postdoctoral Fellow, Epidemiology
Emory Rollins School of Public Health

Maret Maliniak, MPH
Doctoral student, Epidemiology
Emory Rollins School of Public Health

Leah Moubadder, MPH
Doctoral student, Epidemiology
Emory Rollins School of Public Health

Rebecca Nash, MPH
Doctoral student, Epidemiology
Emory Rollins School of Public Health

Talk Titles:

1. "Redlining-Associated Methylation in Breast Cancer: The Impact of Contemporary Structural Racism on the Breast Tumor Epigenome" - Jasmine Miller-Kleinhenz, PhD
2. "Future Directions: The Legacy of Redlining on Air Quality and Breast Cancer Outcomes"- Leah Moubadder, MPH
3. "Census Tracts aren't Neighborhoods: Issues in Examining the Impact of Historical Redlining on Present-Day Health Outcomes" - Maret Maliniak, MPH
4. "Mapping the Racial Disparity in Breast Cancer Mortality in Georgia"- Rebecca Nash, MPH

📍 Join by Zoom: <https://zoom.us/j/98376893470>

📞 Join by Phone: 470.381.2552

🔒 Meeting ID: 983 7689 3470